FIFTY PERSONS LOSE LIVES WHEN FIRE SWEEPS MOVIE HALL IN TOWN IN IRELAND

Dozen Injured in Panic as Audience Struggles to Escape From Flaming Building in Village of Drumcollogher, Near Limerick; No Fireproof Guard Around Projection Machine

Limerick, Ireland, Sept. 7.—Fifty lives were lost and a dozen persons seriously injured Sunday night in a fire in a temporary cinema hall in the village of Drumcollogher, near here.

The moving picture show was being given over a garage in a wooden building. The hall was reached by one stairway. The projection machine caught fire and in the panic women and children were crushed and trampled in the frantic stampede to escape from the blazing hall, and many were trapped and burned alive.

The village has a poor water supply and the wooden building with the garage on the ground floor burned fiercely.

FIRST SHOW

It was the first time the show had been opened to the public. There had been a trial showing the night before at which everything had gone well.

The village has less than 500 population, but the announcement of the showing of the film, attracted an audience from all the hamlets about, for such a show is an unusual event in these remote villages.

MACHINE UNPROTECTED

The fire started within fifteen minutes after the opening of the show. Some manager to get through by any screen, and was placed within a foot of the only door. When it caught fire it was a seething mass of flames in a moment or so, and great panic seized the spectators, who had to pass through sheets of flames from the apparatus in rushing for the door.

FLOOR FELL THROUGH

The building soon became a furnace. Some manager to get through by any screen, and was placed within a foot of the only door. When it caught fire it was a seething mass of flames in a moment or so, and great panic seized the spectators, who had to pass through sheets of flames from the apparatus in rushing for the door.

FAMILY WIPED OUT

One family of six persons on a holiday from London perished. Some children who were thrown through windows escaped with bruises only. One young girl, after clambering through the skylight, fell from the roof and was killed. A man trying to descend from the roof by a water spout fell and was badly injured.

BOTH OPERATOR AND OWNER OF THE SHOW WERE ARRESTED.

DE RIVERA CLAIMS REVOLT CRUSHED

Spanish Dictator Tells Associated Press His Government is in Control

Madrid, Sept. 7.—The revolt of the artillery branch of the Spanish army has been suppressed, Gen. Primo de Rivera, Spanish Premier, has informed the Associated Press correspondent.

"I am happy to say the conflict has been settled," he said, "but am sorry to inform you the suppression of the mutiny of the artillery regiment in Pamplona cost the life of a lieutenant and a private and the wounding of a lieutenant and a soldier who that regiment refused to obey orders to surrender to military forces dispatched by the Government to restore order."

"I DON'T KNOW OF ANY OTHER DISORDERS."

"I am in possession of information from all parts of the country declaring the rebellion has been suppressed and that no other branch of the army, active or reserve, has lent support to the mutineers."

LEADER DISMISSED

General Fabriciano Hary y Porto, chief of the artillery section of the Ministry of War, has been relieved of his post.

Primo de Rivera conferred again with King Alfonso today and another meeting of the Cabinet was held to consider the situation. The King presided.

TO FIX PENALTIES

The cabinet will fix the penalties to be inflicted by the Government on the leaders of the rebellion, which will be apart from the punishment awaiting them by court-martial.

EIGHT KILLED IN CHICAGO ACCIDENT

Holiday Train From Which Passengers Alighting Was Struck by Train

Approximately 100 Persons Injured When Two Wooden Cars Telescoped

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Eight persons were killed and 100 or more injured late last night when a local train from El Roy, Wisconsin, on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway was ploughed into by a Chicago & Northwestern train from Madison, Wisconsin.

The El Roy train was discharging passengers at the Cortland Street station, four miles from downtown, when the Madison train ran into it. The last two coaches of the El Roy train were telescoped and in them most of the deaths and injuries occurred.

Both trains were composed of wooden coaches and were filled with passengers returning to Chicago after holiday outings.

BLIND BY HEADLIGHT

As the crash occurred a northbound train with headlight blazing brightly was said to have been abreast the train struck, and that was given as the cause of the Madison train's engineer not seeing the halted train, into which the engine telescoped.

The right of way was not torn up. The only property damage was the demolition of the two rear wooden coaches of the El Roy train.

Scores of patrol wagons and fire apparatus were rushed to the scene of the crash. Acetylene torches and axes were used in cutting out injured persons pinned down by the wreckage.

FIREMAN JUMPED

Fortune Laidley of Chicago, fireman on the Madison train, said he jumped when he saw the crash coming. The conductor in charge of the El Roy train was Richard Koepf of Chicago, and the engineer, James Thompson of Baraboo, Wisconsin.

"We left Barrington, Illinois about 10 minutes late," said Laidley. "Coming through Clybourn Junction, the station north of Cortland Street, where we were scheduled to stop, I saw the yellow light. That was to warn us to slow up and proceed cautiously."

TRAIN CARRIED 700

Conductor Koepf of the train which was struck, said his train was not scheduled to stop at Cortland Street. "I got orders to stop at the last minute," he said. "It was because of the heavy holiday crowds we were carrying. There were nine coaches on our train and all wooden. There were 700 persons aboard and for the most part they were standing in the aisles."

14 CARS OF FRUIT SHIPPED FROM OKANAGAN

Vernon, B.C., Sept. 7.—A great load of fruit that left the Okanagan Valley in one day were dispatched yesterday.

Just 114 cars of fruit, mostly apples, were pulled out of Vernon, bound for the prairie markets.

TWENTY-THREE ARE KILLED IN TRAIN

Fifty Persons Injured When Cars Plunge Into River in Colorado

Engineer, Dying, Says Speed of Train on the Curves Too Great

Denver, Colo., Sept. 7.—The death list in the derailment on Sunday of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad's crack "Scenic Limited" train near Granite, Colorado, mounted to twenty-three to-day. Four bodies remained unidentified.

TOO FAST AT CURVES

M. Bruenaki, a merchant of Oakland, California, one of the survivors of the wreck, said on his arrival here that Harold Harpending of Salida, engineer of the train, told him before he died that the train was running too fast around the curves.

"I helped carry Harpending out of the wreck of his engine and we laid him down in one of the Pullmans which was still on the track," said Bruenaki. "His arms were frightfully scalded, and those around him knew he could not survive."

"One of the men in the party—I think he is connected with the Rio Grande—asked Harpending how it happened and he said he had relinquished the throttle a moment to the traveling engineer and was lighting his pipe. He said he remarked to the traveling engineer: 'You're hitting too fast around the curves,' and a moment later came the crash."

THE MORE SERIOUSLY INJURED PERSONS WERE TAKEN TO SALIDA, CALIFORNIA, ON A RELIEF TRAIN SHORTLY AFTER THE WRECK.

The dead were taken to Salida and the living, where identification was made.

INFANT ORPHAN

At the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad's hospital at Salida nurses are caring for a baby, not old enough to travel, whose mother, believed to have been killed, efforts to identify the child thus far have proved unsuccessful.

The bodies of Mrs. G. D. Haber and her fifteen-year-old daughter, Ruth, of Buena Vista, Colo., were taken from the wreckage of a coach George Isabel, a son, has not been found. The body of Mrs. E. G. Perschbacher, also of Buena Vista, was recovered from the same coach. The body of George M. Gearhart, engineer, Salida, was taken from the river.

PATHEMIC SCENES

Many of the survivors, not seriously enough hurt to require hospital attention, were brought to Denver yesterday aboard the "Panoramic Special," another of the Denver and Rio Grande's crack passenger trains, which itself was wrecked a year ago nine miles from the scene of Sunday's crash with a loss of two lives.

Many pathetic scenes were enacted as friends of the wrecked train rushed through the crowds jamming the station awaiting the train's arrival, rushed into the arms of loved ones who had escaped harm in the crash.

World Court Plan of U.S. Partly Accepted

Geneva, Sept. 7.—The special committee of the World Court conference which has under consideration the reservations to adherence to that body is said to have decided at a secret session yesterday to recommend acceptance of the first three of the United States conditions. Sentiment appears to increase as to the likelihood that all the reservations will eventually be approved.

MAN AND GIRL WERE KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Alabama City, Ala., Sept. 7.—Alabama City's Labor Day celebration was turned into one of mourning yesterday when lightning killed two persons, seriously injured five and shocked sixty others. Sixteen horses also were killed. The flash struck in the centre of the town while a wild animal circus, feature of the celebration, was parading.

Sixteen lead horses in the parading dropped dead and men and women were injured in all directions.

T. E. Bowling of Alabama City, an employee of the Alabama Power Company, and an unidentified six-year-old girl met instant death.

PRaises STUDENTS OF ORIENT NATION

Returning Instructress Says Chinese Show Great Progress in Schools

Higher Education More Easily Attainable; Students Study Abroad

Although the Admiral Oriental liner President McKinley, which docked here yesterday, carried only four white passengers in its list of saloon travelers, there was one of those Europeans who deliberately and thoughtfully chose the vessel as a means of conveyance, preferring the company of the hundred and fifty and more Oriental students to that of her own people.

She was Miss P. Sprague, of Toledo, Ohio, who has been teaching modern European history in Oriental class rooms to university students for the past six years.

WELL BEHAVED

Miss Sprague stated that she had never seen a better behaved ship load of passengers than that which the President McKinley brought through this port yesterday morning.

"At the captain's dinner," said Miss Sprague, "there was never a suggestion of any rowdiness. The banquet was quiet and orderly, with none of the noisy, raucous nature of one of our modern liners of the same sort. These Oriental people are so self-contained, well-mannered, so dignified and bright, that the more one sees of the student class the more one is inclined to respect them."

A naval detachment was landed Saturday on a British-owned wharf to protect it. The detachment arrested some Chinese strike pickets who were indiscriminately firing on passenger and freight vessels plying to and from Hongkong.

NOMINATED TO CONTEST VICTORIA SEAT

CAREW MARTIN Liberal

Only two names were put in nomination when John Clay, Returning Officer for Victoria, closed nominations at the Court House here this afternoon. They were: Carew Martin, Liberal, and Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative. The nomination papers of the two candidates were completed last week and no other names were filed to-day, despite rumors that the expected straight-party fight was to be broken by the entry of a third candidate.

Only the two parties are contesting Nanaimo Riding. C. H. O'Halloran, of Oak Bay, was nominated to-day to support the Liberal cause while C. H. Dickie, of Duncan, is the Conservative nominee.

A. W. Neill, Independent; Donald R. MacDonald, Conservative; and John E. Armishaw, Farmer-Labor.

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN TO REACH CLIMAX TO-NIGHT WITH BIG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE RALLY

The Liberal Party's campaign in Victoria will reach its climax to-night at a big rally in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Following the success of last week's meeting there, Liberal managers expect to-night's gathering to repeat the enthusiasm which marked previous meetings. The big auditorium having been jammed to overflowing last week, arrangements are being made to accommodate a still larger crowd this evening.

With Carew Martin, Liberal candidate, J. W. de B. Farris, former Attorney-General of British Columbia, will speak to-night. Mr. Farris's brilliant speeches have been a feature of the campaign.

H. H. Shandley, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, will preside.

SPEECHES "ON AIR"

All the speeches will be broadcast, so that many people who stay at home will be able to hear the Liberal arguments.

To-night's meeting will preface a strenuous programme, taking up the rest of the week. On Wednesday evening Mr. Martin will resume his series of meetings in the various wards of the city with a speech in North Ward school. Robert Dinwale will preside and J. B. Clearhouse also will speak.

Other meetings will be arranged for later in the week.

Conservatives will continue their campaign around Victoria, with a meeting in Stanley's Hall, Victoria West, to-night. Lindley Crease, K.C., president of the Victoria Conservative Association, will be the chief speaker. D. B. Plunkett and R. A. Wooten also will speak and Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., will preside.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative candidate here, will return to the city for a meeting in Esquimalt Wednesday in the interests of C. H. Dickie, Conservative candidate in Nanaimo. Arrangements also are being made for meetings on Thursday and Friday evenings when Dr. Tolmie will speak.

Workmen are clearing the ground to-day and an immediate start will be made on the structure, the plans for which call for a substantial business premises in an ideal location.

The Victoria Building Company, said one of its officials to-day, is experiencing one of the busiest seasons on its records, having completed over twenty houses to date, with the volume of work maintained at a high level.

PARTY LINE-UPS FOR SEPTEMBER 14 ARE COMPLETED

Official Nominations for Federal General Election Recorded in 218 Constituencies, the Nominations in Twenty-seven Having Been Made a Week Ago; Fewer Candidates Than Total of 577 Last October

Ottawa, Sept. 7. (Canadian Press).—The official nominations to-day marked the final lineup of the candidates who will contest the constituencies in the Federal general election a week from to-day. Nominations were received from 12 to 2 p.m. for 218 of the 245 seats in the House of Commons, the other twenty-seven constituencies, which are of particularly large areas, having held their nominations a week ago to facilitate preparations for the voting.

With the exception of Quebec, where the situation is not quite so definite as in the other provinces, and the riding of Provencher in Manitoba, where there was an acclamation in the advance nomination, indications based on early returns were that there would be a contest in every constituency.

In the general election a year ago there were no acclamations.

The probability is that there will not be as many three-cornered contests or four-cornered fights this election as in 1925, the issue settling down more generally between the two historic parties, the Liberals and Conservatives, with, in several ridings, a Liberal-Progressive fusion candidate nominated instead of a straight Liberal. The Labor nominees total about the same as last year, when J. S. Woodsworth, Winnipeg North Centre, and A. A. Heaps, North Winnipeg, were successful. In the majority of cases candidates are running into three-cornered fights and there are several other instances where more than two candidates are in the field. These are where Independents are running and where the Liberals and Progressives did not agree on a fusion candidate.

In Quebec the Liberals have a complete array of candidates except in L'Abbaye, where Henri Bourassa, an Independent, is running. There will be contests in all constituencies in the House of Commons.

Last year 577 candidates were nominated for the 245 seats and the indications are that the total to-day is somewhat less. The representation in the House of Commons is, by provinces:

Prince Edward Island 4; Nova Scotia 12; New Brunswick 12; Quebec 46; Ontario 82; Manitoba 17; Saskatchewan 21; Alberta 16; British Columbia 14; Yukon 1. There are four two-member constituencies: Queen's, Prince Edward Island, Halifax, N.S.; St. John-Albert, N.B.; and Ottawa.

QUEBEC PROVINCE

Montreal, Sept. 7.—As a result of the nominations for the Federal general election to-day in the province of Quebec, and last week at the advance nominations, a contest is insured in every one of the province's sixty-five seats. In several ridings candidates did not definitely decide to run until yesterday or to-day, but when the nomination reports to the Canadian Press were received they indicated every seat had its candidates and no acclamations were recorded.

Nominations for the fourteen seats in British Columbia were made as follows:

Cariboo—J. G. Graham (L.) and J. A. Fraser (C.)
Comox-Alberni—A. W. Neill (Ind.), D. R. MacDonald (C.) and J. E. Armishaw (Lab.)
Fraser Valley—E. Manuel (L.) and H. J. Barber (C.)
Kootenay East—Hon. J. H. King (L.), Dr. J. W. Rutledge (C.) and James Sims (Lab.)
Kootenay West—R. H. Gale (L.) and W. K. Ealing (Ind.)
Nanaimo—C. H. O'Halloran (L.) and C. H. Dickie (C.)
New Westminster—C. C. Knight (L.), W. G. MacQuarrie (C.) and W. A. Pritchard (Lab.)

PREMIER HERTZOG GOES TO LONDON

South African Leader Urges Breadth of View at Empire Conference

Capetown, Sept. 7. (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Questions before the Imperial Conference in October must be dealt with in a national, Empire and world spirit, General J. B. M. Hertzog, Premier of the Union of South Africa, declared before an enthusiastic meeting here last night on the eve of his departure for London to attend the conference.

South Africans, he said, approach these questions, he said, in a national South African spirit which should transcend all party and race feeling and which would not sever the bonds of national union and solidarity, which alone could insure South Africa happiness and prosperity, and which alone could guarantee her place in the British Commonwealth of free nations and give permanence and stability to that commonwealth.

RIFLE SHOOTING

The Victoria and District Military Rifle Association held its Labor Day shoot yesterday morning at the Heals ranges. A very bright sun and a tricky breeze kept the marksmen busy, and the number of high scores made, despite these conditions, is a clear indication of the superiority of the local shots.

Q.S.M. "Billy" Wood of the Garrison Rifle Association, seemed all set for breaking the range record, but a "magpie" at 400 yards upset his calculations. Still, his 102 is a score seldom equalled. Sgt. H. W. Burton, of the same team, and C.Q.M.S. A. E. Ashe, of the Canadian Scottish, both reached the century.

The shooting of Cadet Bong was a big feature. The Canadian Scottish shot enviously for their affiliation medals. C.Q.M.S. A. E. Ashe was the winner of the D.R.A. silver medal, Sgt. B. W. Beaumont won the D.R.A. bronze. C.Q.M.S. D. Pyrie won the B.C.R.A. silver and Capt. Glen C. Holland the B.C.R.A. bronze.

Shooting will be continued on Saturday afternoon as long as the weather holds good. The committee wishes to express its thanks to the following for prizes donated: Little & Taylor, F. W. Francis, M. & H. A. Mackay, McKay & Gillespie, Walker & Sons, Acme Press, Fox & Mainwaring, Major F. Richardson, Mr. E. P. Porter, Harris & Smith, Drake Hardware, Mr. W. R. McKay, W. N. Lenefsky, W. T. McGibbon and Major W. J. Wilby.

C.S.M.I. W. H. Wood, Garrison Rifle Association, was the winner of the Little & Taylor Aggregate Cup for Class "A" and Cpl. E. L. R. Herriott, Canadian Scottish, won the H. R. N. Cobbett Cup for Class "B".

RAIL FREIGHT RATE CHANGES ARE URGED

Donaghy Tells Vancouver Voters Liberals Plan Equalization For B.C.

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—"What would be British Columbia's case on an appeal to the Government of Canada from the order the Railway Board will make at the end of the present equalization inquiry if the government should be headed by Mr. Meighen?"

This question was propounded by Donald Donaghy, Federal Liberal candidate in Vancouver Centre, to an audience here last night.

"If the order is favorable to the East may appeal," he said. "If it is not favorable to us, we shall have to appeal. Which kind of government do you wish to hear that appeal? A Conservative government, headed by Mr. Meighen, who said the equalization of grain rates was utterly indefensible, or a government headed by Mackenzie King, who ordered the Railway Board to give us the grain rates?"

Mr. Donaghy also dealt at length with the record of Hon. H. H. Stevens on freight rate matters, accusing him of having opposed Vancouver's interests in Parliament repeatedly.

Conservatives in British Columbia were insisting the freight rates must be kept out of politics, said Mr. Donaghy, but Conservatives in Eastern Canada were appealing to the people of the East for the purpose of putting a stop to the policy of equalizing rates in the West down to the level enjoyed in the East.

and the Nash-Mutual fruit brokers, made his bow to a Vancouver audience as a public speaker in an hour's review of the election issues. "It is a national question whether Mr. Stevens is sincere in the front he has been putting up to Canada in the past five or six months," he said. "Many people in the East do not think he is. I realize I am talking among his friends, but I talk of his public conduct, which no doubt is a product of the company he is compelled to keep."

EDMONTON JUDGE'S HOUSE WAS BOMBED

Attempt on Life of Jurist Failed; Second Crime of Sort Within Month

Edmonton, Sept. 7.—The second act of terrorism to occur within a month at Edmonton Saturday night when the home of Judge Taylor, judge of the district court, was bombed, duplicating the attempt on the home of Police Magistrate Macleod three weeks ago.

No great damage resulted from the explosion, and no one was seriously injured, but the bombing, following as closely that of last month, has startled the city, and it is conjectured both Judge Taylor and Col. Macleod are the targets of a conspiracy against the law.

The damage at the home of Judge Taylor consisted mainly of shattered windows and broken dishes. The bomb was exploded at the back of the house and tore the kitchen door from its hinges.

A further reward is to be offered by the authorities in addition to the $500 already offered for the arrest of the alleged anarchist who attempted to destroy the Macleod home.

BIG THRONGS HEARD BISHOP OF LONDON

Visiting Church Leader Spoke Sunday in Vancouver and New Westminster

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—So large was the crowd which assembled at Christ Church Sunday morning to hear Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington- Ingram, Bishop of London, England, that two sermons were necessary, the Bishop delivering the second one from the steps of the church to the large number who had been unable to gain admission to the building. At the evening service in Holy Trinity Cathedral, New Westminster, the great crowd of the morning was duplicated, and hundreds of citizens of the Royal City were unable to hear the Bishop.

"All shall know Him, from the least to the greatest" was the text chosen by the Bishop, and he drew on his own experience gained in forty years of service to the church, to sustain his statements. The heart of man was sound, he said, and he had found that man wanted to know God. All his experience led him to be very hopeful of the possibility of all men knowing God, and it was the duty of those who did know Him to guide others to the attainment of similar knowledge.

GREAT RESPONSIBILITY
He declared those who taught the Word of God had a tremendous responsibility, and that responsibility could best be discharged by proper methods of teaching. A man could not be forced into a knowledge of God.

"Rub lightly," was his advice to the teachers. Knowledge of God came through love of a man for his fellow-men, and brotherhood could only be soundly developed by a sympathetic understanding of the human heart. The Bishop referred to the duties of the cathedral's new rector, Rev. J. R. Gratton, formerly of St. John's Church, North Vancouver. He advised him to be hopeful and to "rub lightly" until the desire for knowledge of God was kindled. "The nearness of God was the Bishop's subject Sunday morning in Christ Church, Vancouver. His text was, 'Thou art about my path and about my bed and art acquainted with all my ways.' He quoted passages from both the Old and the New Testaments which proved the nearness of God, mentioning the vision of Jacob, the vision of Isaiah in the temple, and statements contained in the New Testament—'Where two or three are gathered together, there am I in the midst of them,' and 'Lo, I am with you all the days.' He told of addresses he had given at some of the leading public schools in England, when he had particularly emphasized the doctrine—'God is a father with a mother's heart.'"

Prince of Wales In 1927 to Visit This Continent

Paris, Sept. 7.—The Prince of Wales plans to visit the United States next year, says a dispatch to the Paris edition of The New York Herald from Biarritz, where the Prince is on a vacation.

The correspondent says the Prince told Alexander P. Moore, former United States Ambassador to Spain, that he regretted he was unable to go to the Sesqui-centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia.

"But I am surely going to America next year," the Prince is quoted as saying, "and I am looking forward to my second visit with great pleasure."

St. Boniface Has Three Candidates

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—T. B. Mallory, who recently announced his candidature as an Independent Liberal in the Federal constituency of St. Boniface, has withdrawn from the contest.

As a result of the withdrawal of Mr. Mallory, the campaign in St. Boniface resolves itself into a three-cornered contest with Dr. J. P. Howden as Liberal candidate, Joseph Bernier, Conservative, and Allan Meikle, Labor.

The "Busy Back" in Use To-day

To-day the phrase, "That Line Is Busy," practically goes out of existence as far as the Victoria telephone system is concerned. It is replaced by the modern "busy back," an audible electric signal which notifies the telephone user when he is calling a busy line.

If, after you give a number to the operator, you hear an intermittent clicking sound, you know that the line you are calling is busy. The "busy back" will continue to sound until you hang up the receiver. Do not wait for the operator to speak, as the "busy back" is the only notification you will receive.

The "busy back" is now standard equipment in the larger cities of the continent.

HOW THEY LOVE HIM

THE CONSERVATIVE TORONTO TELEGRAM is finding it somewhat difficult to answer the Liberal Toronto Star's inquiries as to whether it has really changed its opinion of Mr. Meighen's leadership of the Conservative Party since the general election of 1921. The Star reminds its contemporary that "in the cold bleak dawn of the morning after" that contest, when the Meighen Government had been so severely defeated, "it came out with a full-page blast" against the leader of that party which included the following:

A FOLLOWER NOT A LEADER, should be the epitaph Hon. Arthur Meighen carves on his own tombstone. Every leader must accept advice from some source. Arthur Meighen was born with a genius for accepting advice from such councillors as Sir Robert Borden, P.C., and Montreal, P.Q. Mr. Meighen went in leading strings to Sir Robert Borden all the days of his leadership.

The Star gently chides The Telegram and inquires if it thinks Mr. Meighen has improved in the meantime. The Liberal Journal then goes on to say that the Conservative leader was certainly not getting advice from Sir Robert Borden when he made his Hamilton speech—the speech in which he declared his party would hold an election to find out if the people of this country would be willing to take part in a war involving the Empire—or when he landed in the constitutional difficulty. The Telegram also said in 1921: "The Conservative Party needs the presence of Arthur Meighen's debating power in the House of Commons. The Conservative Party also needs the absence of Arthur Meighen's defective leadership from the councils of the party." It followed this up with the opinion that the party "should not experiment further with the Meighen leadership."

Then The Conservative Montreal Star has made later history in respect of the leadership of Mr. Meighen. As recently as in May of this year it was exceedingly outspoken and that part of its comment which follows indicates fairly clearly what it feared then:

We have never denied that Arthur Meighen was the most popular leader for the Conservative Party that the Liberals have ever had. They are all for him. He is their biggest political asset. The paper in question could not go wrong in quoting any Liberal paper or politician, big or little, as heartily supporting Arthur Meighen for the perpetual leadership of their opponents.

There are Conservatives who still think that the Conservative Party stands for something—that it possesses stable principles which are worth fighting for—that it has a monopoly of policies which the nation never needed more than it does to-day.

There are Conservatives who believe another Liberal victory, followed by five more years of Liberal rule, would be a calamity for the country, and might easily develop into an irreparable disaster.

If Mr. Meighen defers his withdrawal until after another defeat at the polls, he will leave the party hopelessly weakened and too much discouraged to recover quickly.

It is particularly amusing at this stage to recall The Star's suggestion of last May that five more years of Liberal rule would be a calamity for the country which "might easily develop into an irreparable disaster." In its own columns during the last few months it has recorded with considerable enthusiasm the progress which Canada has made in every way since the election which left Mr. Meighen in the cold last October. The Conservative Montreal Gazette likewise has forgotten its gloomy predictions of last year in its gratification over the obvious prosperity which is to be noted everywhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

ANOTHER GERMAN "CRISIS"

GERMANY IS IN THE GRIP OF ANOTHER crisis. It has nothing to do with the Dawes plan or the country's admission to the League of Nations. Nor is it widespread. It is confined to that picturesque university city of Heidelberg. The people there are up in arms because their chief of police has announced his intention of taking drastic measures to prevent students duelling, either in the form of friendly bouts or as a means of settling affairs of honor. This decree follows the death of a student from wounds received in a duel the other day.

Anti-duelling laws in Germany have been in existence for many years, but they have never been strictly enforced. In fact traditional combats between student societies are regarded, particularly in Heidelberg, as part of the curriculum. Nothing really provocative is required to start a row between one or more corps or between individual members. At any rate no student likes the idea of leaving Heidelberg unless he can show at least one "cut of honor" on one or both of his cheeks. In possession of that, moreover, he can go out into the world and be known at a glance, to use western parlance, as "one of the boys." The "wounding" is not a vicious business. Sometimes, of course, the rapier is not handled as artistically as it might be and on those occasions the blood-letting is apt to be a little painful. But the student extracts consolation from the fact that his honor mark will be all the more obvious as a result of the too energetic jab.

The point that is worrying the people of Heidelberg is that if the chief of police goes through with his threat, students will not enroll at the University. Their custom, of course, gives the citizens their livelihood. This they are anxious to safeguard even if many of the student pranks are anything but pleasant. It is thus a unique Old World economic problem which they have to settle.

HE KNOWS A GOOD THING

RECENTLY IN OTTAWA A GENTLEMAN was asked how he was going to vote on September 14. "For the Liberals," was his reply. "Why?" he was promptly asked. "Because the Liberals reduced my income tax from $124 to $38—that's why," he responded.

Here is an excellent reason why any voter should do his best to put Mackenzie King back with a working majority. Thousands of taxpayers in Canada have realized the benefit which the Robb budget has conferred upon them and it is certain that they will vote in the only way that will insure a continuation of the tax reductions which the Liberal Government began, which Mr. Robb says will be continued, if its members and followers are returned.

It is also to be noted that if the King Administration is given another term, the Old Age Pensions measure which came to grief through the opposition of the Conservative majority in the Senate will be re-enacted. British Columbians also are particularly interested in the undisturbed operation of the Australian treaty. This will not be safe with a Government headed by Mr. Meighen. And the Conservative Party would restore the old scale of import duties on motor cars.

Canadians who value the relief in taxation which the Robb budget extended to them should, in their own interests, vote and work for the Liberal Party. It has a fine record of achievement behind it. It will continue the good work if it is given a chance. Mr. Meighen's campaign is mainly one of scandal and calling names.

THE END OF THE "JOEY"?

IS THE THREE-PENNY "BIT" TO GO and make way for a successor made of nickel and of a larger size? This is a question which is agitating the public mind in Britain just now. War has been made on this particular coin because it is too small, that it has an unfortunate knack of losing itself in the folds of voluminous pockets, and that it is not easy to handle. A good argument seems to have been made out in support of the proposal to end its career in favor of a more convenient coin of the same value.

The three-penny piece, however, is by no means as unpopular as the present proposal for doing away with it may suggest. There are frequent occasions when the dignity which its silver composition imparts to it has its advantages. It is an ever present help in times of "silver collections." Many offertory boxes give it a temporary home. It causes very little noise as it drops into the baize-covered receptacle. And if it comes to rest on an open plate with other coins the suspicious neighbor may easily mistake it for a sixpence. Dropping three pennies or six half-pennies takes nobody in. They do not "go over" half as well as the diminutive "Joey." There is no suggestion of niggardliness. Three pence is an important sum to many wage earners there.

In the days of Queen Elizabeth the first three-penny piece made its appearance and it was in 1662 that the last silver penny was issued. Charles II. issued the first copper half-penny. Previously the penny had been cut in two or even into quarters to make half-pennies and farthings. George III. put out the first copper penny.

Dr. Tolmie has only a few more days in which to explain his position with regard to Mr. Meighen's policy of holding an election in the event of a war involving the Empire. Dare he discuss it?

Conservative newspapers continue to tell the people of Canada that only a high tariff can "restore" this country's prosperity. And yet they all carry front page stories nearly every day telling the country how its trade persists in expanding. That is true and the voter is not being fooled by any blue ruin talk this time.

"POP THE QUESTION"

"POP THE QUESTION"

We consider the "pop the question" to be a very informal and flippant reference to a proposal of marriage. As a matter of fact, however, it is a corruption of the word "propose," a rather dignified and parliamentary method of referring to the proposal. "Popping the question," therefore, may not be taken as lightly as indicated.

Canadian Questions and Answers

WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT

Q—What degree of water power development is taking place in Canada?

A—Water power development is steadily increasing in Canada. On January 1, 1924, the water power available in the Dominion was 18,255,316 h.p., with a total development of 4,290,425, compared with 3,227,104 developed as at February 1, 1925. The increase during the first five months of 1926 was seventeen per cent greater than during the same period in 1925, and thirty-eight per cent over the same period in 1924. The water power branch of the Department of the Interior estimate that about $1,000,000 will be needed on capital expenditure for turbine installation in the next twenty years.

CANADIAN PACIFIC EXPRESS COMPANY

Q—What is the Canadian Pacific Express Company?

A—The Canadian Pacific Express Company, the new name of the old Dominion Express Company, organized fifty-three years ago. For forty-seven years its business has been identified with that of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the change of name will make that identification more complete in the public mind. The growth of the company since the time of its organization, one of the romances of Canada. At its starting point it had six employees, one horse and a second-hand wagon. Now it maintains more than 4,600 agencies, operates over 17,761 land and 14,181 ocean miles, and owns more than 1,000 street vehicles.

To the Editor:—I have always received at the hands of the Victoria press the most kind and considerate treatment, therefore I would ask that this same courtesy be extended to me by you in announcing that the statement made in The Vancouver Sun of Saturday last that Mr. Beaumont Boggs is seriously contemplating running in the Victoria constituency as an "Independent" is without the slightest foundation.

I had not intended taking part in the election, and I am sorry that the result, but I have now asked the privilege of speaking at a meeting in Victoria West-to-night, when I hope to make my political position clear.

VISITS OF FRIGATES AND CRUISERS TO ESQUIMALT

To the Editor:—The present visit of the light cruiser Curlew to B.C. waters will have extended from July 13 until September 10. This period nearly coincides with that spent here by the wooden sailing frigate Constance, which was the first British naval ship to anchor in Esquimalt harbor. She moored in Esquimalt harbor on July 25, 1848, and cleared the Straits of Juan de Fuca on September 5 on her way to San Francisco, which city had that year grown from 900 to 20,000 in population.

The 50-ton frigate Constance, of 5125 tons, was launched at Pembroke in 1846 (complement 500), commanded by Capt. George W. C. Courtney, and was the second of that name.

As far back as 1844 there had been vessels of the British navy inside the Straits, but they had either not discovered Esquimalt harbor, or else it had not been charted. At any rate the first of these vessels was the sloop-of-war Modeste, commander Thomas Ballin (afterwards a rear-admiral of the Blue), which anchored in Port Discovery on the south side of the Strait, then under the British flag, in August, 1844.

In 1845, the frigate America, Capt. the Hon. John Gordon, of 1,758 tons, entered the Straits and also made Port Discovery its base. She came up from Central America upon orders from Rear-Admiral George Francis Seymour at Callao, which were to the effect that the British Government was inclined to afford protection to the British part of the population on the banks of the Columbia River. The commander-in-chief further stated: "My directions to Capt. Gordon were to take up an anchorage, which will be, I have no doubt, in Port Discovery, as there is no good anchorage for a ship of war in the new settlement of Port Victoria, and request the officers of the Hudson's Bay Company in charge of that station to procure him the assistance of the company's small steam vessel (the Beaver), by which to establish a communication by Nisqually to Port Vancouver."

In 1846 the frigate Flagard, 42 guns, 1,069 tons, Capt. John Alexander Dunst (afterwards a vice-admiral of the Red) was in the Straits and though she anchored off Port Victoria, did not attempt to enter either that harbor or that of Esquimalt. The steam paddle vessel Comorant, being the first naval steamer in these waters, was here in the same year. She was of 1,057 tons, her engines were of 300 horsepower and her captain was Commander George T. Gordon. The two naval survey vessels, Herald, Capt. Henry Kellett (afterwards a vice-admiral and K.C.B.), and Pandora, Lieut. James Wood, were also in the Straits during the summer of 1846. After being in South America all of 1847, the Herald sailed for the Arctic in 1848, and the Pandora came up to the Straits and anchored in Esquimalt harbor, where she met the Constance. After this time there was hardly a year without one or more frigates or corvettes calling at Esquimalt.

It is interesting to note that as late as January, 1857, the word "frigate" appears in the navy list, in that for the following December it had become changed to "first class cruiser," etc. To bring these notes up to date it is necessary to mention that the word "light cruiser" first appeared in the navy list about the second half of 1914. The example taken is the Active, of 3,440 tons and 18,000 horsepower, which was completed in 1915, and called "an un-armored cruiser," but in the navy list for December, 1914, she was called "a light cruiser."

The light cruiser Curlew, the seventh of that name, was completed in 1917, and one of her important qualities is that of a large fuel capacity, which in turn gives her a large radius of action. She is one of the Eight Cruiser Squadron, her engines are of about 40,000 horsepower, and her complement is 380 to 430. A large radius of action is most important for all the cruisers of the Eight Cruiser Squadron, which is located on the North American and West Indies station. Though the Panama Canal was completed on August 14, 1914, yet British men-of-war could not use it until the United States had entered the war. Since the end of the Great War, all the northwest coast of North America has been added to the above station. Even in this part of the old Pacific station the distances are great, and there are not many light cruisers in the navy with such a large radius of action as the Curlew.

NEW CATHEDRAL IS UNITED EFFORT OF WHOLE DIOCESE

First Climax of Great Campaign Will be Reached on Thursday

Appeal For Gifts For Week Will be Made This Week

"With the opening of this week, the first stage of the new cathedral campaign ends and the second begins," reads a statement issued this morning by the new cathedral committee. "Nearly 1,000 persons in the forty-seven parishes and missions of the diocese have engaged in preparations which will reach their first climax this week, when the Bishop of London lays the foundation stone of the new Christ Church Cathedral upon twelve stones sent out from Canterbury Cathedral, England."

"Shortly after 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, the clergy of the diocese, chairman of parish committees, and official representatives of the people, will assemble on the site, accompanied by appropriate banners signifying the name of the parish or the character of the dedication."

"Twelve bishops will also be present at the ceremony of laying the foundation stone, representing the Anglican Communion in the Mother Land of the church and Empire, and the self-governing daughter churches in Canada and the United States."

"A few hours after the foundation stone has been declared well and truly laid, meetings will be held in the Memorial Hall, at which the Bishop of London and other visiting bishops will speak, and an official statement will be made concerning the second stage of the campaign for building the new cathedral. The meetings will open at 8:15 p.m. Ticket holders are urged to be in their seats at the Royal Victoria Theatre at 8 p.m. Tickets are required, and none will be issued for the meeting in the Memorial Hall."

"Side by side with all the various preparations which have been made during the past months, the deep and heavy foundations of the new cathedral have been constructed. When the contract was let, it was stated that most of the money in hand at the time would be needed for this preliminary work. Some of it had been given in the past, and thirty-six years ago. But although various sets of drawings had been prepared, local or national conditions had caused postponement after postponement."

"Ever since the termination of the World War, it has been recognized that the age and antiquity of the present wooden cathedral would demand an early beginning of the new building. The time has come when the church in the city and diocese needs, and the growth and importance of Victoria as the capital city of the Province warrant, a larger cathedral of a more permanent character."

"The old cathedral and the congregations that for over fifty years have worshipped in it have served the community and the diocese well. The new cathedral, according to the designs of the architect, J. C. M. Keith, and the plans of the cathedral authorities, will serve the community and the diocese better. It is the

DO THIS AFTER SEVERE ILLNESS

How to Speedily Gain Strength and Put on Needed Weight

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamins extracted from the livers of the common codfish to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

So nowadays, medical men who keep up with times are ordering a tablet containing the vitamins that give to frail folk vigor, strength and weight—a tablet that is known as McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablet—and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after any severe illness.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women can take on five pounds in thirty days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on five pounds in thirty days.

Great for weak, skinny, backward, run-down children too, and gives them a hearty appetite.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Extract Tablet. Vancouver Drug Co., MacFarlane Drug Co., Owl Drug Co. and druggists everywhere, have a big demand for them—and millions are sold monthly all over North and South America. They are sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. 60 Tablets—60 cents. (Adv.)

aim of both that the new stone cathedral shall be a beautiful house of prayer and rest for all who wish to enter it, at the same time being the Mother Church of all Anglicans in the diocese. Open daily throughout the year, it will offer opportunities of spiritual comfort to the individual, citizen or visitor, and to small or larger groups at regular or special services.

The official appeal for gifts to enable the next section of the nave of the new cathedral to be proceeded with, will be made on Thursday. It is estimated that from $250,000 to $300,000 will be required to complete the first section, and towards this amount, the sum of $100,000 has already been given or promised.

"While the smallest gift will be gratefully received from those who cannot afford more, the building committee hopes that all supporters of the new cathedral will ask themselves, not how little, but how much, they can give. The decision that will rest upon the building committee of the new cathedral will be the next contract shall be let, is a serious one. If all supporters and well-wishers will declare at the time of the canvass how much they are prepared to give during the next few years, the committee's task will be made easier and their way made plain."

"Some people have already undertaken to contribute a certain portion, such as a door, window, etc., and others may be interested to know of approximate costs. Each window on the north side will cost $300 and on the south side $500, while the clerestory windows will also cost $200 each. These figures are for the stonework only, and do not include glass. A nave column, with base and capital, will be $800; the base only, $125; shaft only, $145; capital only, $130. A bay, consisting of two columns of the nave arcade, including the arch between, will cost $2,000."

"For those who cannot give the larger sums, although all gifts may be paid in instalments extending over a few years, the committee has acceded to the request of many who inquired whether they could give a stone to the new cathedral. The cost of a few instalments, however, has been fixed at $5. One or any number of stones may be paid in instalments monthly, quarterly or annually as desired."

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

WHAT MOTHERS WANT TO KNOW

Mrs. N.M.W. writes:
"Should my baby of four months be given ice cream? Since he was a month old relatives and friends have been trying to give him tastes of different kinds of foods, including bananas, but particularly ice cream. They are quite surprised because I do not feed him anything, except nurse him and give him orange juice. I intend to give him swieback and cereals when he is six months old. Am I right?"

ANSWER
The parent who considers a child's proper diet as just being one of those foot-things concocted by modernists in order to make life more complicated for the mother, is the type who feels that as soon as a child sits up he should be fed anything and everything he wants. Anything that is soupy and easily swallowed, irrespective of its dietetic value or content, is considered safe food for the baby without teeth. It is this type of parent who later writes pleading letters of inquiry to this perspiring editor, begging to know what she shall do with the baby. He cries whenever he comes to the table and Joe cream is a frequent victim of spells of indigestion, or convulsions and vomiting due to his inability to digest the outrageous articles of diet which come his way.

Now there doesn't seem to be any doubt as to where I stand on this subject of indiscriminate feeding. I consider it one of the chief outrages against helpless babyhood. A baby's diet should consist only of such artificial food as is designed to nourish him and add to his health and strength. His digestion should not be taxed with one additional thing. Joe cream is a fine dessert for the child who is old enough for desserts, providing it is made in a cleanly manner and of good materials. It does not belong in the diet list of the nursing baby.

Remember to add vegetables to the baby's diet at seven months, as well as cereal. Zwieback is the same type of food as cereal.

Woman Had Exciting Escape From Drowning In Yangtse

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Enders, Passenger on Empress of Asia, Arriving Yesterday, Tells of Her Experiences in Wreck

Shipwrecked before breakfast and swept overboard into the waters of the Yangtse Kiang river without even a lifebelt, was the terrifying experience of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Enders, author of "Swinging Lanterns," "Temple Bells and Silver Sails," travel books on China, who was a passenger aboard Ss. Empress of Asia, which docked at Pier Two yesterday morning.

Mrs. Enders lived to tell the tale of her adventure. She has recounted it in the later of her two books. She is now bound for New York.

Few women have penetrated as far into China, away into the wild and rugged north of that mysterious country, as has Mrs. Enders. None have written with more vivid picturesqueness of what they have seen and experienced there. She has studied the life of the people of the Asiatic land.

ON RIVER TRIP

It was while on a 1,500-mile trip up the Yangtse river two years ago that Mrs. Enders suffered shipwreck and all but lost her life. She was traveling on a boat up the river, whose waters rise and fall with varying and uncertain rapidity during certain seasons, making navigation difficult. At Ichang, the river boat was forced to wait for nine days, for the water was falling so rapidly that it was impossible to proceed. Eventually the ship arrived at Chungking. Again the water fell, and the return trip to Ichang was delayed several days further.

On the day of her departure for Ichang, the river boat moved off downstream at 6 o'clock in the morning. About 9 o'clock Mrs. Enders was reclining in her stateroom when a sudden grinding crash aroused her. Slipping on a fur coat, she went out on deck. She was under the impression that the vessel had its side torn away against a rock. Actually, the boat had struck the dangerous Talpan Tsu reefs and had torn a ragged hole in her hull.

Mrs. Enders rushed towards the stern. The vessel was sinking aft and Mrs. Enders was washed into the river. She stayed under water an endless time, she says, but despite the weight of her fur coat struggled to the surface and fought to keep afloat.

The sinking steamer had turned around and was heading for the shore at full speed. Somehow, in its back wash, Mrs. Enders was carried towards the shore by the current instead of downstream.

A small island between her and the main bank of the river, about a quarter of a mile in length, was her destination. She swam towards it with all her strength.

MANY ARE DROWNED

Although the boat beached before reaching the island, only the bow of the vessel remained out of water, and fifty of its Chinese passengers were drowned. The remainder of those aboard reached land in safety.

It was six years ago that Mrs. Enders went to China with her husband. Ever since her arrival there she has traveled and studied and has met with all manner of experiences while in the country. Many of these she has already recounted in her literary works.

WHEREVER THERE ARE FLIES USE FLY-TOX

"Something baby ate" -
Yes. But tainted by Flies

FLIES crawled over the food. Waded in the milk. Their stenchy feet were filthy dirty. Baby took germs of burning fever in to her little body when she ate the food. She became restless. And then sick!

Flies cause forty thousand deaths in the United States each year. And far too many of them are children.

MEIGHEN SPEAKS IN ONTARIO TOWNS

Addresses Election Meetings at Niagara Falls, Paris and Brantford

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 7.—Premier Meighen, addressing a Conservative Federal general election meeting here last night, promised he would put the tariff on the products of the farms just as high as that of the United States, if the Conservatives were returned to power on September 14.

If the United States farmer gets his products in here, he will have to pay a tariff so high that he will restore what a Fordney tariff in Canada is like," said Mr. Meighen.

TARIFF CUTS
Dealing with the tariff reductions recently made, Mr. Meighen said no baby objected to the reduction in the tax on automobiles. Perhaps the time had come when it would be reduced, he said. Perhaps some might say that the tax on, say, clothing, ought to have been reduced as soon as that on automobiles.

"You can't have cheaper clothing and cheaper automobiles, too," he added.

Mr. Meighen also spoke in the town of Paris during the evening.

AT NIAGARA FALLS
Yesterday afternoon Mr. Meighen addressed a picnic crowd in the park beside Niagara Falls. On the platform with him were Conservative candidates from several surrounding constituencies, including the present Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. J. D. Chaplin, who spoke briefly.

Mr. Meighen asked for the support of Conservatives and Liberals alike because of his fiscal policy. His policy was that which was established by Macdonald and maintained for fifteen years by Laurier. It was only after the alliance with the Progressives, he said, that the Liberals had sacrificed that fiscal policy.

PRINTERS FLOCK TO BIG ANNUAL PICNIC

Nearly Five Hundred Attend Gathering of Local Union at Rodd Hill

Nearly 500 souls, without a care in the world, enjoyed the second annual picnic of the Victoria Typographical Union at Rodd Hill yesterday. Swarms of children crowded there to enter the sports programme provided expressly for their benefit and their elders entered into the spirit of the games with as much enthusiasm and possibly more sincerity, with the result that every one of those participating in the field events enjoyed himself or herself to the utmost.

Tally-hos starting from the City Hall at 2 o'clock, conveyed many to the picnic grounds, dropping their passengers between 2:30 and 10:30 a.m. at the Rodd Hill field. At 10 o'clock the sports commenced, with only children's entries being run off. Following these races the parties separated into their family groups and opened the big hampers, which they had guarded or hidden under the wild rose bushes since their arrival.

Meanwhile, the tickets for the football had been drawn. There were six prizes in this event. After the mid-day meal the real athletics commenced, and the men of the composing rooms led with one another in ardent competition. There were races for the ladies as well, and mixed events, such as the wheelbarrow race for men and women. It was a varied and completely successful programme.

The baseball game between the Times and Colonist men and a picked team from the Rodd Hill battery garrison, resulted in a win for the latter team by a narrow margin. The Times and Colonist picked soccer eleven fought to a scoreless draw in a heated game of soccer.

Energetic committees were largely responsible for the success of the day, with that of the Ladies' Auxiliary showing particular activity on the grounds and doling out ice cream and soft drinks to endless lines of patrons.

The general committee was composed of S. V. Bowers, F. G. Wyatt, J. E. Davidson, L. H. Borde and F. H. Neelands.

The officials on the grounds were as follows:

shortly after she departed from Yokohama. He was immediately locked up and when the Asia arbe held until the ship sails again for the Orient and then will be

WORK PROGRESSING ON SALVAGING OF JAPANESE VESSEL

Work on the salvaging of the cargo of the wrecked Japanese steamship Kakyu Maru is progressing well, Pacific Salvage Company officials stated this morning. It was found impossible to boom the logs and Japanese squares which made up two-thirds of the vessel's cargo so the lumber is being loaded on to scows.
On account of the heavy currents running in Johnstone Strait the logs could not be held together after they were placed in the boom.

Salvage officials stated this morning that it will take between two and three weeks to remove the cargo. Following this the vessel's side will be patched and then the water will be pumped out of her.

from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to height is in feet and tenths of a

FRENCH IMMIGRANTS FROM INDIAN OCEAN WILL SETTLE HERE

Little Band of Hopeful Souls
Arrive on Empress of Asia
From Mauritius

"We have come to Canada to find new homes," said Jean Blancard, Frenchman and overseer, until recently of a huge sugar plant on Mauritius, a British island in the Indian Ocean, when he looked for the first time over the waters of Victoria's harbor from the deck of the Empress of Asia when that vessel docked yesterday from the Far East.
With a party of sixteen persons, all hailing from the island of Mauritius,
Jean Blancard has come to Canada to find for himself a home, a livelihood and a new station in life.

"Mauritius, to us Frenchmen, is becoming overcrowded," M. Blancard went on. "To those of us who have ambitions it offers so little. It is overgrown with Chinese and there is little or nothing for the few Frenchmen left there."

"Once," said M. Blancard, "Mauritius was a colony of the French Republic, but it fell into British hands and since then we have lived under the Union Jack and for most of us it has been a hard life."
M. Blancard painted a vivid picture of Mauritius with her waving plantations of sugar cane, her paddy fields and her workers in the pith-helmeted overseers, clad in their white suits, tanned by a tropical sun that beat down from shimmering heavens.

"We have risen as far in Mauritius as the land will allow. It is so overcrowded. So some few of us have come to Canada. It is not as though we came

The Victoria and District Gardeners' Association will hold their regular monthly meeting in the City Hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Angus McKay, P.R.H.S., will speak to the Association on Spring bulbs for the home garden culture and varieties to grow. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

C. H. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate for the Nanaimo Federal Riding, will address two meetings this evening, one at Marigold, assisted by E. W. Whitaker and J. A. Booth, and one at the Temperance Hall, Keating, assisted by W. Brydon and A. D. Macfarlane. Both meetings will commence at 8 o'clock.

Charged with making a false declaration as to the age of the woman he married, in order to procure her at the altar, Charles Lewis was this morning brought before Magistrate Jay in the city police court. He pleaded not guilty, through counsel, P. J. Sinnott Jr. and was remanded until Monday next.

Louis Vasherski, in the city police court to-day, was fined $25 for driving to the common danger on Government Street on September 2. Chief of Police Fry told Magistrate Jay the circumstances. He had seen the defendant pass at a rate of speed between thirty and thirty-five miles per hour, threading his way through heavy traffic. Accused had pleaded guilty but only remarked that he did not see how Chief Fry could tell how fast he was going. "It is a sufficient thing to tell a car's speed when you are standing watching it," he commented.

Failure of an unknown driver to observe this rule almost caused a serious accident near Colwood last night. This man swerved past three cars on a curve in front of him and would have collided head-on with a car moving in the opposite direction if his driver had not stopped dead in the middle of the highway. The new highway code, issued a few weeks ago, strictly forbids any driver to pass a car in front at any point where a white line appears, even though he believes he can do so without crossing the line.

Public Works Department officials pointed out that white lines have been placed on the highways only at points where curves are considered dangerous and where collisions are almost inevitable if cars do not keep well over to their own side of the road.

KIWANIS SUGGEST ROUGH DROWNED, THIEF WRECKS CARS

JUBILEE CEREMONY

Coast to Coast Celebration For Confederation Anniversary

Beacons Would Blaze From Every Hill Top in Canada

The Kiwanis Club of Orillia, Ont., in a letter to Mayor J. C. Pendray, sets out tentative plans for what is suggested by way of celebrating Canada's diamond jubilee, July 1, 1927. From coast to coast public ceremonies would take place at the same time, instituted by a salute from artillery units through Canada fired from one electrical key at Ottawa. School children would form the feature in the ceremony marking the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation. It is suggested that the plan be given thought in every Canadian centre from coast to coast, and that attendance be sought from the Royal household for the occasion. A part of the ceremony would be the lighting of beacons from every hilltop by children under the guidance of the direct descendants of the oldest Canadian families in each district. The plan would do much to spur growing minds with a significant sense of federation, and each province would feature addresses by speakers from outside their own limits. It is suggested.

DRIVERS HERE STILL VIOLATING NEW RULE ON ISLAND HIGHWAYS

Cars Passing One Another at Forbidden Points Marked by White Lines

Vancouver Island motorists are still violating the new right-of-way rule on main highways in flagrant fashion, according to reports received by the Public Works Department. Over the holiday week-end, many cases of disregard for the new highway regulations were noted, particularly around Colwood. From now on Provincial Police will enforce these regulations drastically.

Motorists do not seem to realize yet that they must keep to the right of white lines painted down the middle of highways. Public Works Department officials stated. Where these lines appear, it is explained, no car is allowed to pass another in front of it. Despite this regulation, however, many cars are noted swerving past one another and thus crossing into the left side of the highway. The new highway code, issued a few weeks ago, strictly forbids any driver to pass a car in front at any point where a white line appears, even though he believes he can do so without crossing the line.

Public Works Department officials pointed out that white lines have been placed on the highways only at points where curves are considered dangerous and where collisions are almost inevitable if cars do not keep well over to their own side of the road.

Coast to Coast Celebration For Confederation Anniversary

Beacons Would Blaze From Every Hill Top in Canada

The Kiwanis Club of Orillia, Ont., in a letter to Mayor J. C. Pendray, sets out tentative plans for what is suggested by way of celebrating Canada's diamond jubilee, July 1, 1927. From coast to coast public ceremonies would take place at the same time, instituted by a salute from artillery units through Canada fired from one electrical key at Ottawa. School children would form the feature in the ceremony marking the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation. It is suggested that the plan be given thought in every Canadian centre from coast to coast, and that attendance be sought from the Royal household for the occasion. A part of the ceremony would be the lighting of beacons from every hilltop by children under the guidance of the direct descendants of the oldest Canadian families in each district. The plan would do much to spur growing minds with a significant sense of federation, and each province would feature addresses by speakers from outside their own limits. It is suggested.

The members of the Victoria Fire Department entertained members of the Port Angeles Fire Department at the annual picnic yesterday at the Willows Beach. A splendid programme of sports had been arranged by the committee for the children and grown-ups and was much enjoyed by all attending. Some keen competition was witnessed, especially in such events as the pegging competition for ladies which was won by Mrs. Ferrier of Port Angeles, also in the tug-of-war and baseball games. The tug-of-war being won by the local department and the baseball game ending in a draw.

The committee in charge wishes to thank all business firms who so kindly contributed and so helped to the success of the day.

Tombola winning numbers were as follows: 201, 325, 206, 461, 481, 432, 254. Prizes can be had by applying at the central fire station.

DRIVERS HERE STILL VIOLATING NEW RULE ON ISLAND HIGHWAYS

Cars Passing One Another at Forbidden Points Marked by White Lines

Vancouver Island motorists are still violating the new right-of-way rule on main highways in flagrant fashion, according to reports received by the Public Works Department. Over the holiday week-end, many cases of disregard for the new highway regulations were noted, particularly around Colwood. From now on Provincial Police will enforce these regulations drastically.

Motorists do not seem to realize yet that they must keep to the right of white lines painted down the middle of highways. Public Works Department officials stated. Where these lines appear, it is explained, no car is allowed to pass another in front of it. Despite this regulation, however, many cars are noted swerving past one another and thus crossing into the left side of the highway. The new highway code, issued a few weeks ago, strictly forbids any driver to pass a car in front at any point where a white line appears, even though he believes he can do so without crossing the line.

Public Works Department officials pointed out that white lines have been placed on the highways only at points where curves are considered dangerous and where collisions are almost inevitable if cars do not keep well over to their own side of the road.

VALENTINO FILM "COBRA," LATEST STARRING VEHICLE, AT DOMINION THIS WEEK

Is Modern Story Adapted From Successful Broadway Play by Martin Brown; Deals With Lure of a Fascinating Woman

An interesting analysis of Rudolph Valentino's character is made by Katherine Elverson, widely known graphologist, now on the staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Miss Elverson's remarks are of timely interest, as Valentino is now showing in "Cobra," his latest starring vehicle, at the Dominion Theatre. She writes:—

"There are many interesting points about this writing, and most of them are decidedly to the writer's credit. Sincerity and a lack of affectation are shown, with candor and straightforwardness. The writer is a gentleman; he has good taste and refinement and probably pleasing manners and an agreeable personality.

THE FIVE I'S
"The inspirational temperament, which almost invariably marks those who succeed in any of the arts, appears in the many separated letters, giving intuition, imagination, idealism, insight and impressionability—five I's. Mr. Valentino is quick of comprehension and grasps ideas subconsciously. He reads people instinctively. Forms his likes and dislikes instantly and seldom swerves from his first impression. He is sure that he is right, without reasoning about it, and it nettles him a bit to have others disagree with him. Psychic subjects interest him, and the occult has some attraction for him.

"Nevertheless, there is a wide vein of practicality in his nature and he has good financial sense. He is energetic, aggressive and has excellent will power and stability. Courage and independence are shown, with decided views, strong convictions, which oppose to his excellent judgment. Particularly, care with details and the desire to do what he does as well as it is possible to do it are in this writing, and the earnestness, tenacity of purpose, ambition and perseverance shown are good evidence that he will be successful. He is conscientious.

BARTHELMESS REGISTERS OUTSTANDING SUCCESS IN "THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN"

Romantic Story by Jeffery Farnol Directed by Sidney Olcott Is Presented This Week at Capitol Theatre

Richard Barthelmess, always one of the dependable artists of the screen, has scored again in "The Amateur Gentleman," which opens at the Capitol Theatre to-night. "The Amateur Gentleman," based on the story by Jeffery Farnol, was produced by Inspiration Pictures under Sidney Olcott's direction and is released by First National. Unless this reviewer is mistaken, this feature will prove to be one of Dick Barthelmess' greatest successes, both artistically and from the standpoint of the box office, for, in our estimation, it has "everything."

Dick is dressed in the highly romantic costumes of the Regency period in the England of 1817. The story tells of a gentleman, of the first water, who is the hero of the first water.

The direction is under the able hands of Sidney Olcott, who contributed "Monsieur Beaucaire," "The Old New York," "The Humming Bird," "The Green Goddess," and other classics to the screen. The photography is by David W. Gobett and has a quality close to an old English print.

The cast is one of the best we have yet seen in support of Richard Barthelmess, and includes Dorothy Dunbar, his new leading lady, who is ravishingly beautiful and quite the re-incarnation of Lady Cleone, Gardner James is a force to be reckoned with as Barrymore, while Nigel Barrie, John Miljan, Herbert Grimwood, Billie Bennett, Sidney de Gray, John Peters, Gino Corrado, Brandon Hurst, J. Edwards Davis and Jacques D'Amory make up the balance of the cast.

Reginald Hincks Presents Victoria Follies This Week

Dolores Costello in "The Little Irish Girl" is Screen Attraction

Beginning Monday Reg. Hincks will present one of the daintiest and most entertaining dance revues that has ever been offered in Victoria. A special feature of this production will be the appearance of several of George Brydson's pupil artists. Mr. Brydson has staged all the dances as well as appearing in several numbers. Vivien Combes will do her duty as the Prima Donna, giving her own conception of how opera should be sung. Eva Payne has a delightful duet with George Brydson. Walter Gaskell, genial orchestra leader also has a prominent role in the production. Reg. Hincks and Harold Bechtel will appear as two Johnnies.

"The Little Irish Girl," the Warner picture starring Dolores Costello all week at the Playhouse Theatre, is a crook story, but instead of the locale of the ordinary crook picture—the dens and back alleys of the big city—that of "The Little Irish Girl" is the country.

Tony and Master Taking Daring Risks In Columbia Thriller

Tom Mix and Famous Horse Perform Many Hair Raising Stunts

One of the most thrilling jumps ever photographed is seen in "My Own Pal," now at the Columbia Theatre when Tom Mix, star of the production, forces his horse, Tony, to leap into the baggage car of a swiftly moving train, to evade a band of men who are pursuing them.

At the picture gives but a suggestion of the thrill that went with the watching of the real performance when Tom, mounted on Tony, galloped down the road, pulled the horse back on his haunches, gave him an encouraging pat and jumped to the platform of the moving train. Tom and Tony have done many thrilling stunts in their work together and have had many narrow escapes—some of them coming too near being fatal to be funny.

"45 Minutes From Broadway" is Big Coliseum Feature

It is small wonder that George M. Cohan's first "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," a reproduction of which is now playing at the Coliseum, enjoyed an almost continuous run of ten years on the American continent.

Full of wit and humor, wonderful music and a good story with a plot centring around a lost will, there is ample scope for the versatile genius of the Coliseum director, Mr. Redmond, and lots of lively work of the kind the talented members of the company revel in.

The enlarged cast of nineteen players, without exception, handle their parts splendidly, but outstandingly clever is the work of George Olsen, as Kid Burns; Marie McLaughlin, as Mary, the maid; Frank Allwood, as a crook; Alex. Weira, as Tom Bennett, the heir; Catherine McDonagh, as the heir's future mother-in-law, and Legge Willis, as a butler.

Musical Festival Plans to be Given At Meeting Soon

The Victoria Musical Festival committee recently appointed by a public meeting to lay plans for a festival to be held in Victoria next year is now ready to report, and for this purpose is calling a meeting which will be held on Saturday, September 11, starting promptly at 8.15. J. G. Brown and his associates on the committee have a number of interesting reports to bring before the meeting, covering their various activities during the past few weeks, dealing with the arrangements for trophies, syllabus and programme, etc.

will be submitted will be a proposed constitution, as it is believed that the festival should be incorporated under the Benevolent Societies' Act so that its affairs may be conducted in an orderly fashion.

It is hoped that a large number will be on hand for the meeting, including not only those who attended the last two public meetings, but also many others interested in helping to launch this movement in Victoria. The meeting will be held at 603 Campbell Building.

New Constellations Come Into View in September

This chart shows the appearance of the heavens at 9 p.m. Sept. 1, 5 p.m. Sept. 15 or 7 p.m. Sept. 30 in latitude 35 degrees north though it is practicable for any part of the United States or southern Canada as a change of a few degrees in latitude has little effect upon the appearance of the heavens.

The Northern Cross in Cygnus and Vega in Lyra are now very close to the zenith. South of Cygnus is the constellation of Aquila. The Eagle, its bright, first magnitude star, Altair, may be easily recognized by the fact that it lies in line with and about half-way between two fainter stars.

Aquila, as well as Cygnus, lies directly in the path of the Milky Way and it was in this constellation that the brilliant Nova or Temporary Star appeared on June 8, 1913, which for several days outshone even the brilliant Vega. Nova Aquilae No. 3, as the star was known, because of the fact that it was the third nova to appear in Aquila, is now only a faint telescopic star shorn of all its former splendor.

BILLIONS OF MILES

To the northwest of Aquila is the interesting little asterism known as Delphinus, The Dolphin, or Job's Coffin. One of the most distant objects in the heavens, a globular cluster of stars forming an island universe in space, is to be found in this small constellation. Its distance from the earth is about 230,000 light years, and it is visible only in the most powerful telescopes.

Well up in the eastern sky at this time will be seen the Great Square in Pegasus and following on the east and north the constellation of Andromeda with one of its three second magnitude stars marking the northeast corner of the Great Square. These two constellations will be conspicuously in view in the evening skies throughout the fall and early winter evenings.

Among the planets, Saturn is visible in the southwest for about three hours after sunset. It is now in the constellation of Libra and later in the Fall will come into conjunction with the sun and disappear from the evening sky. Jupiter is now in view in Capricornus for the greater part of the night and will be easily recognized by its superior brilliancy. In the early evening it will be found in the southeastern sky.

MORNING STAR

The planet Mars is now becoming brilliant and will rise above the northeastern horizon in the constellation of Aries shortly after 9 o'clock on the first of September. Its brilliant ruddy rays serve to distinguish it from all other planets. Its distance from the earth on September 15 is about 53,000,000 miles and by the end of October when it is nearest the earth this will be reduced to approximately 43,000,000 miles.

The planet Venus is still a magnificent Morning Star, though its distance from the sun is decreasing. At sunrise on the fifteenth it will be nearly due east and about 15 degrees above the horizon.

Wilson, Medalist, Rejoins in Golf Finals

Art Beasley Crowned City Golf Champion

Defeated Harold Wilson, Medalist, Five Up and Three to Play in 36 Holes Finals Yesterday; Both Finalists Had to Dispose of Good Players Before They Emerged From Semi-finals; Bob Challoner's Golf One of Pleasing Features

Art Beasley, of the Victoria Golf Club, is the new golf champion of this city. He won the crown yesterday by defeating Harold Wilson, a club-mate, five up and three to play, at Oak Bay, in the thirty-six hole finals.

This is the first time that the high honors have fallen upon the young shoulders of Beasley. He won them after a brilliant display of golf. All through the tournament he held to his form and round after round he clicked off well down in the seventies.

His path to the finals was strewn with obstacles of considerable magnitude. In the second round he was pitted against the young Oxford star, Ronnie Scott-Moncrieff, who is good enough to find his place on his university team. Beasley beat Scott-Moncrieff by 3 and 1. In the third round Beasley was drawn against Joe Wilson, father of Harold. He had to play real golf to come through, for the match was decided on the eighteenth green, when Beasley met Ed McQuade, the defending champion, and was returned winner by a margin of 4 and 2.

WILSON'S ROUTE
In making his way into the finals Wilson, who was the medalist, scored an easy win over R. F. Darcus in the second round by 5 and 4, and followed this up in the third round by disposing of A. V. Price, the Uplander star and a former title-holder, by 1 up. Wilson had a narrow escape in the semi-finals, when he played Bob Challoner, of the Uplander club. At the thirteenth tee Challoner was "up" with a great fighting finish. Wilson won the remaining six holes and finished two up.

Challoner's break against Wilson does not detract from the splendid golf he played in the tournament. Little regarded as a possibility for the semi-finals he went out and beat some of the best players in the championship. In the first round he beat George Simpson, of Colwood, and in the next round had a thrilling match with Jack Matson, club champion of the Victoria Golf Club. Challoner won on the nineteenth green. Challoner's victory over Matson left him to face A. V. Macan, one of the most consistent players in the game. Challoner had to go to the nineteenth hole to win. At the extra hole Macan's second shot rested in a smudge, and while looking for the ball he knocked the tree and the ball fell down. The penalty incurred resulted in "Mac" losing the hole.

THE FINALS
In the finals yesterday Beasley and Wilson both played good golf, although the latter had some trouble with his putter. Beasley completed the first eighteen holes in 75 and was two up on Wilson, who required 78 for the round. In the afternoon Beasley continued to increase the margin in his favor, and the match ended on the fifteenth green, when the new champion was five up.

C. F. Todd, president of the Victoria Golf Club, presented the Seward Cup, emblematic of the city championship, to Beasley at the conclusion of the match.

The results were as follows:

Harold Wilson defeated A. T. Goward, 2 and 1.

Roy Cliffe Gains Decision In Fight Against Belanger

Courtenay Boy Outpointed in Early Rounds Closes Fast; Wins Canadian Title

Special To The Times
Roy Cliffe, local light heavyweight product, secured the judges' decision over Charlie Belanger of Winnipeg, in a ten-round bout here Saturday night. A tearing rally at the close gave Cliffe the decision. Cliffe won the light heavyweight title of Canada as a result of his win.

In the first six rounds Belanger somewhat puzzled the local boy with his lead of straight lefts, which Cliffe had to keep out of range of this deadly left but was always back for one, an forced the fighting on several occasions. Belanger seemed to tire after the sixth round, and this gave Cliffe the cue for which he had been waiting. He got his trusty right arm wallop working to perfection and, forcing the fighting all the time, had the Winnipeg boy slowed up considerably. But when the contest ended, the referee was in favor of Cliffe at the finish.

DOWN FOR THE COUNT
The semi-wind up between Scotty Lester of Vancouver and Harvey Jones of Cumberland ended in the second round when the Cumberland boy kissed the canvas for a count of ten after a heavy onslaught by Lester.

Danny Pascoe of Victoria sprained his ankle in the second round of his scheduled four-round bout with Townsend of Vancouver, and a great hand from the fans when he stayed through the four rounds. Townsend of Seattle fouled Hay of Alberta in the second round of a four-round bout.

Albie Davies of Victoria and Young of Vancouver fought four fast rounds to a draw. The Victoria boy filled the place of Moccus Canning of Vancouver, who failed to put in an appearance.

Mary Browne Will Oppose Suzanne in Professional Debut
New York, Sept. 7.—Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal., for fifteen years an outstanding tennis player, yesterday announced that she had agreed to oppose Suzanne Lenglen in the French girl's projected professional tour.

Port Angeles Are Much Better Than Eagles; Win Both

American Team Shows Way to Locals in Two Games, Scores Being 9-3, 10-5

Sund, U. of Idaho Star, Holds Visitors For Six Innings, But Cracks

Although strengthened by the addition of several of the Sons and Travelers, the Eagles were no match for the husky crew of pulp-mixers from the Washington Pulp and Paper Company of Port Angeles whom they engaged in a two game series at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday, suffering defeat in both games. The score in the morning encounter was 9-3 and in the afternoon 10-5.

Errors caused the downfall of the local team in the first game, nine mistakes being registered against them. Coming at opportune times for the opposing team these materially helped in the run gathering. The Eagles outthrew the visitors 15-9, but the punch was not there when needed and "Babe" Adams, the Port twirler, was always effective in the pinches, while his team-mates gave him almost airtight support. The veteran Pulp, although letting the locals down with three errors, contributed as many hits toward the efforts to down the invaders.

SUND SLOGGED
In the second game the Eagles trotted out for review, Sund, formerly of the University of Idaho, who has something of a rep. The visitors set out to batter up this reputation and smashed out seventeen safe cracks from his offerings. Undaunted, Sund kept on working, eating out of his hand and that had scored, but one run up to that time as against five for the Eagles. But when the contest ended, the referee was in favor of Cliffe at the finish.

MANN CUP MUST GO EAST AS WESTERN CHAMPS LOSE OUT

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Displaying a more rugged offensive than their opponents, Western, Eastern Canada, senior lacrosse champions, defeated Winnipeg Tigers, Western Canada champions, by a score of 11 to 3 in the second game of the series for the Dominion championship at Hamden Park here yesterday afternoon.

As the locals also were victorious in Saturday's game by the identical score of yesterday's game, the Mann Cup will now travel east to Weston, who by virtue of their double triumph, will possess the coveted trophy and the Dominion lacrosse championship for the year.

Thrilling Finish Witnessed In Race At Crystal Garden

fin, two of the leading swimmers of the city, staged a real finger-tip finish in the mixed handcap swimming event in the gala held at the Crystal Garden last night by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club. Johnny was not quite sure whether he won a finger nail or not, but any way the judges gave him the decision in one of the closest finishes seen here for many a month. Twenty-two swimmers were entered in the race which was run off in three heats and proved highly exciting. Foubister and Miss Griffin raced down the tank in the final and kept the rest in doubt until after the judges had had a consultation.

PEDEN SHOWS UP
Bill Peden, who earlier in the day had shoved himself into the limelight by winning the Moody Cup bicycle race, doffed his riding trunk for a swimming suit and stepped out against "Chuck" Hill of Vancouver, the champion breaststroke swimmer of Canada, in an exhibition swim. Peden was second and Piller third, but he was not in the final in the heat against the champion, being only two yards in rear at the finish.

The boys from the H.M.S. Curlew dropped in once more to help the Victoria swimmers. Several keenly contested races were staged by the tars who entered into the races with great zest and enjoyment. The final event on the programme, a polo game, caused plenty of excitement. The Whites defeated the Blues by 2-1.

The officials in charge of arrangements were as follows: General director, J. D. McNeill, V.A.S.C.; announcer, E. Stokes, Elks' A.S.C.; starter, V. J. Dunn, secretary, C.A.S.A.; judges, W. Barrett, V.A.S.C., C. McKinnon, Y.M.C.A.; diving judges, V. J. Dunn, W. Barrett, Chas. Hill; Vancouver polo referee, V. J. Dunn; referee, D. Balmay, V.A.S.C.; recorder, John Barker, V.A.S.C.

THE VANTY CASE

Mott intended this as a bold stroke. He turned suddenly and faced Bunny with his question, spoken in a brutal, threatening tone, and accompanied by a stern, accusing glare.

Bunny turned white, attempted to speak, then swayed in her seat, and toppled over sideways.

CHAPTER XXVI

Todhunter Buck sprang to catch her, his own lips white and quivering with fear.

"How dare you?" he cried, "no police authority gives you the right to frighten a young lady like that!"

"Don't show contempt for the law, or interfere with its processes," Mr. Buck said sternly, in no wise disconcerted by Tod's outburst.

"It was at this moment that Al Cunningham arrived.

He looked curiously at the little group.

Bunny, whose faintness had been merely momentary, was clinging to Buck's arm, her face drawn with fear and terror, her whole frame trembling with nervous excitement.

Inman was apparently dazed, his hands moved twitchingly and he was looking wildly about, but was seemingly unable to speak.

Mott was stern, implacable, like an avenging instrument of the law, and Todhunter Buck was trying to control himself, and master the situation.

Seeing a good chance, as Cunningham's entrance made a slight diversion, Buck whispered to Bunny, "Come on!" and without further ceremony, he led her swiftly through the open French windows, across the terrace, and over across the lawn to his aunt's house.

"My dear child!" said that good lady, as she took the distressed girl in her arms, "what have they been doing to you?"

"They've been persecuting her, Aunt Emily," the nephew declared hotly. "That man Mott is a brute! A beast! I wouldn't have minded if he had asked Bunny questions, if he had been courteous about it. I wouldn't have minded even his accusations, if he had shown a decent consideration for her. But he banged his talk like a sledge hammer, and he glowered at the poor little thing like a demon of wrath—oh, he was horrible!"

By reason of Toddy's valiant indignation and Mrs. Prentiss's cooling endearments, Bunny began to revive her drooping spirits and recover her poise.

"You are both so good to me!" she exclaimed, "it sort of makes up for that awful man's treatment of me. How could he say I would—do—do that to my aunt? Oh, Mrs. Prentiss, who did it? Who killed her? Bunny, who could touch up her face after that? I'm sure he couldn't!"

"What about the servants?" Mrs. Prentiss was secretly devoured with curiosity.

"It's too absurd to imagine Herick doing that and none of the others was about!"

"Emma," suggested Mrs. Prentiss, "Oh, Emma, she couldn't use a lipstick as that one was used!"

"Her husband could have done it," put in Tod.

"Oh, no!" Bunny looked agonized. "They were not entirely congenial, but he never would kill her!"

"But didn't he often urge her to use color on her face?" persisted Mrs. Prentiss, still curious.

"Yes, we all did. We coaxed her to try it now and then. But nobody could make Myra do anything she didn't want to do."

"You could have been so devoted of common human feeling as to put on that make-up!"

Bunny gave him a grateful glance. "Of course we couldn't!" she exclaimed. "And, though it seems too dreadful to suspect Carter, ver well, she is a mysterious sort of woman—"

"How?" eagerly inquired Mrs. Prentiss.

"Oh, nobody knows anything about her early life, where she came from and all that. Then, she has a fearful temper—Myra discharged her three times for impudence and tantrums."

"It was certainly a crime of passion," Buck said, musingly. "You see, Mrs. Heath, for some reason, went down to the studio late at night. Then somebody came to her there, and had—must have had a discussion with her, that became a quarrel, a desperate quarrel, and resulted in the person, whoever it may have been, impulsively grabbing up that bottle and bashing Mrs. Heath on the temple. When the poor lady died, the heartless, soulless murderer proceeded to make up that dead face, to see how she would look. And, you see, Bunny, they used your vanity case. That is pretty well proved, too, I think. Now, how did that vanity case get back in your room?"

Though Buck spoke casually, Bunny looked up at him quickly, to see if he were laying a trap for her. But, if so, he got small satisfaction.

"I don't know," she said, simply. "Didn't you carry it upstairs, late at night, at half-past one, as Emma declares?"

Todhunter Buck spoke gently, but he evidently expected an answer. "No," said Bunny. "Emma made that up. She is a born liar."

Buck said no more but, lighting a cigarette, he strolled out on the porch. Meantime, Al Cunningham was listening to Mott's emphatic statements that the Moore Baby was the murderer of her friend and hostess.

Larry Inman treated the idea with scornful contempt, but Cunningham, with open mind, listened to the detective's arguments.

"You see, it couldn't have been Heath himself," Mott declared, "because he went away after the house was locked up. I haven't a doubt but that he was the man seen by the chap who sat in the back arbor with Katie, at about one o'clock that night. In fact, the young fellow has declared himself certain that it was Heath who sneaked away from the house. Well, the whole thing occurred after that, do you see? Very likely Mrs. Heath saw her husband out, and locked the door after him. He was in the habit, I'm old, of going off to New York suddenly and unexpectedly, and nobody thought anything of it. Then, say, Mrs. Heath came back to her there and somebody killed her. It must have been somebody in the house. As to the question of Miss Moore, there are too many positive bits of evidence against that girl to let suspicion stray in any other direction. She was in love with the husband, therefore, of course, jealous of his wife."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily Teaches School

"Come, Amble! Come, Scramble! Hurry, Tooter! Don't be late, Scooter! Where is Jangle? Don't do that, Jingle! Wash your face! Buster! Come in to breakfast, Custer!"

These were only a few of the shouts Uncle Wiggily listened to as he hopped out of bed in his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"My goodness! What's the matter?" he asked as he jumped into the bath tub and out again, dressing quickly.

"Oh, have you forgotten?" asked his wife, who was jumping through the hall with two high piles of clean handkerchiefs. "This is the first day of school, after the long vacation."

"While I was waiting I nibbled at it—" and I am getting our forty seven little bunnies ready so they will not be late."

"Dear me! That's so! The first day of school!" said Mr. Longears. "I must stop in and call on the Lady Mouse Teacher this afternoon to see if everything is all right."

Getting forty seven little bunny children ready for school is no joke, and it took Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy and Mrs. Longears and Uncle Wiggily quite a while to do it. But, at last they were all marching down the path, even to Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit child, who was visiting at the bungalow for a time.

"Now, I can take a rest," said Uncle Wiggily. "But, hardly had he settled himself in an easy chair, and started to twinkle his pink nose, then along the path came running the old gentleman rat who was janitor in the Hollow Stump School.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" squeaked the rat janitor.

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Did the bad Bob Cat take away the bell?"

"Worse than that!" said the janitor. "The Lady Mouse Teacher isn't at school to take charge. The children are jumping around and playing all sorts of tricks and they won't mind me."

"Where is the Lady Mouse?" "I don't know. She must be ill, or something. What's to be done?" "I will come and teach school for the first day," said Uncle Wiggily. "I guess I can manage all right. Perhaps the Lady Mouse will be there before I hear many lessons. Anyhow, there isn't much studying on the first day."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped to the Hollow Stump School where, as the rat janitor had said, the animal boys and girls were not behaving as nicely as they should. But at the sight of the rabbit gentleman the pupils hurried to their seats and became very quiet.

"Girls—and boys," began Uncle Wiggily. "Your teacher is a bit late this morning. I think she is ill, so I am going to teach you. Now we shall have the first class in lollypons. Jackie Bow Wow, you may tell us what lollypons are made of."

"Oh, teacher! Teacher! Uncle Wiggily teacher!" whispered half a dozen boys and girls eagerly raising their paws or their wings or their feet, which ever came most natural.

"Jackie is wrong!" "Jollie," said the bunny, looking at a mouse boy, "you may tell us what lollypons are made of."

"Cheese!" squeaked Jollie. "Oh, no! He's wrong!" Quacked Lulu. Wibblewobble, the duck. "Lollypons are made of honey!" "Dear me," said Uncle Wiggily. "No one seems to know for certain, so I will tell you what I am going to do. The whole school shall go with me to the store and I will buy each one a lollypop. After they are eaten we shall have a lesson on them and find out what they are really made of. Such ignorance about lollypons is astonishing! Come now, we must settle this question. Come with me to the candy store!"

And such happy, joyous, well-behaved animal boys and girls you never saw. In orderly lines they marched with the bunny to the candy shop, and when the lollypons were bought and eaten each one knew they were made of sugar.

And when Uncle Wiggily led the children back to school there was the Lady Mouse Teacher waiting for her classes.

"I am sorry I was late," she said, "but a wheel came off the jitney bus. However, I think you made a very good teacher, Uncle Wiggily."

"He surely did! Hurrah for Uncle Wiggily!" cried the boys and girls.

And that's all now. But if the gum drop doesn't fall off the front porch when it's trying to stick a postage stamp on the rag doll's nose, I'll tell you tomorrow about Uncle Wiggily and the tired ant.

STRATFORD WOMAN

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Stratford, Ontario. — "After my first baby was born I started to work on the tenth day and did a big washing on the twelfth day. Being so young (I was married at 19) I did not know what was the matter, so let it go until I was all run-down, weak and nervous, and had a bad displacement. For nearly two years I could not sleep and I would always complain of having 'not a head-ache, but a brain-ache.' My mother is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life and she recommended it to me. After taking two bottles I began to get a little sleep and to feel better and I have never left off since then, except for about three months. I can safely say I have taken thirty bottles since my second baby was born. I think it makes child-birth easier as I had terrible pains with my first three children and very few with my fourth as I was so much stronger. I am now able to do my work alone, but I am still taking the Vegetable Compound as I am nursing baby."

—Mrs. OMER PAUL, 48 Cherry Street, Stratford, Ontario.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

"While I was waiting I nibbled at it—" and I am getting our forty seven little bunnies ready so they will not be late."

ACCIDENT CAUSED DEATH

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—Fatally injured when an automobile in which he was riding, driven by W. Bratherton, 1648 Eighteenth Avenue, Edmonds, crashed into a telephone pole at Fifteenth Avenue and Kingsway Sunday at 2 a.m., Joseph Cole, Powell River, died two hours later in the Vancouver General Hospital. Harry Dunn, also of Powell River, and Bratherton suffered severe cuts about the head. According to police reports, Bratherton's automobile, a light sedan, was being driven east along Kingsway at a fair rate when it left the road at Fifteenth Avenue, colliding head-on with a telephone pole. Cole was employed as a storage foreman by the Powell River Paper Company and had only arrived in the city Saturday on a visit.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR AT ESQUIMALT SHOW

Organizations Held Successful Country Fair Saturday; Miss Mackenzie Present

About seven hundred visitors attended the country fair and dog show held on Saturday afternoon by the various organizations of Esquimalt, the proceeds of which will be given to the fund for the proposed Esquimalt war memorial.

The affair was formally opened at 2 p.m. by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Miss Helen Mackenzie, who accompanied Mrs. Booth, was presented with a beautiful bouquet by George and Harry Clarke, the small sons of Lieut.-Commander G. P. Clarke, and with a corsage bouquet of bluebells by Mrs. Nicol, of the Scottish Daughters' League.

The visitors were received by the general convener, Mrs. Booth, president of the Esquimalt Women's Institute.

Tea was served during the afternoon in a large marquee under the auspices of the Esquimalt Women's Institute and was convoked by Mrs. Brooker, assisted by Mesdames Adams, Stockley, Stewart, Davies, Garrett, Williamson, Raymond and Parkes.

The Navy League Boys' Band added greatly to the enjoyment of the afternoon and their bright and lively music met with much appreciation.

The Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.G.E. was responsible for the stall of home cooking, those assisting being Mesdames Clarke, Warder, Youngman and Wright. The Ladies' Guild for Sailors had the candy stall, presided over by Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Cave and Mrs. Caldwell. Two stalls were undertaken by the Esquimalt Scottish Daughters' League. At one a fine display of fruit, flowers and vegetables was offered by Mesdames McDuff, McFarlane, McBeath and Hansen, while at the other Mrs. Nicol and Mrs. Ford busily served ice cream and soft drinks.

Handkerchiefs and aprons were attractively shown by Mesdames Nelles, Niven, Rose and Hadfield, and novelties in great variety were on the stall convoked by Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Pilcher for the Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Kelly and Mr. Booth dispensed hot dogs and peas and corn.

A novel and pretty idea was the butterfly stall, daintily decorated by Mrs. Hopkins and Miss Ryley.

The Child Hygiene Council of Esquimalt ran a post office, where the postmistresses, Mesdames Appleby and Saddler delivered mysterious parcels to callers. A coconut shy was in the hands of Mr. Quinn and other members of the United Services Lodge, R.A.O.B. Major Fiddington's dogcart and pony was in great demand among the little folk.

Girl Guides from the Esquimalt Company looked after a large doll, which was subsequently won by Mr. Quinn. Jack Irvine was the lucky winner of a big box of chocolates. Lucky numbers in the tombola drawing were: 00452, 00202, 00227, 00211, 00350, 00703, 00115, 00528, 00562, 00557, 00305.

The tombola prizes may be secured from G. W. Brooker, 1376 Esquimalt Road, and any information concerning them may be obtained from Mrs. A. Booth, 65541.
